FORD TO MAKE FASTER CAR

LARGE HIGHWAY OULAYS
LOOKED FOR THIS YEAR

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., — Ford is weighing a proposal that he build an automobile to be used in races to bring the land speed record back to the United States, Mayor E. H. Armstrong re-acted Sunday.

Ford and the mayor discussed the matter at length, and the Detroit manufacturer's son authorized the mayor to announce the subject of the conversation.

"Ford is greatly interested in the proposal," said the mayor, "but after he talked with Sir Malcolm Campbell yesterday he realizes the enormity of the task. However, he believes the impression he will talk the matter over seriously with his associates in Detroit. Sir Malcolm on the other hand, was ready to 'chuck it,' create up the old lady Bluebird and sail back to England unsatisfied, but standing on the 25.118 mile an hour record he set here over a week ago.

Insistence of city officials saved him, however, and he will sail north Thursday at the latest, when the full moon of March brings the highest tides of the year to iron out a beach that at the moment is rising from bad to worse.

This year, after 100 prospects are provided for a large overland race, highways by the dominion and provincial governments.

The program, still to be determined by the action of these legislative bodies when dealing with the estimates for the fiscal year, should involve large outlays, particularly on Trans-Canada Highway links in Alberta.

Year in and year out, the Albert Motor association has been urging the respective governments to improve the highway system. Stress has been laid on the value of the tourist traffic something that will pour millions of dollars into this province if it is developed to the maximum degree.

The Motor Association has urged union the dominion and provincial governments the need of completing as speedily as possible the five Red Highway between Regina and Golden B.C., which will thus give Alberta a direct southern outlet by way of Banff.

ALBERTA TO BE PAID $5,000,000

Alberta is to receive nearly $5,000,000 in a lump sum from the Dominion in further settlement of the natural resources question. The decision by the royal commission which has been investigating settlement of the natural resources question. Senate chairman will receive approximately the same. The decision in the case of Alberta was unanimous by the commission.

The amount awarded is to place the two western provinces on a parity with the other provinces of Canada. Manitoba has already received a similar settlement of its claims. This amount is in addition to subsidies paid to the Dominion after the war (res were returned). The decision of the commission is expected to finally settle the natural resources question in the western provinces.

Premier Lord estimates that the amount will be placed to the credit of the province and other treasury bills which have been placed with the Dominion as security for loans, and will be a net gain in interest of between $200,000 and $300,000. The Alberta government however, will await the full report of the commission's findings before making a statement.

Speedy action also has been urged upon the dominion in completing what is known as the Jasper-Banff section of the highway, which a long part has already been completed.

Violent Explosion Occurs Near Carbon Exploration Co.'s Well

THE PARLIAMENTARY SHOW

(By J. S. Cooper)

At a dinner given by the Liberal members of the past week to the Press Gallery members, a silver tray bearing the fantastic signatures of his twelve supporters was presented to Mr. H. H. Brown, C. C. Liberal leader.

But the notable presentation was not the best of it. In recognition of the toast of the Liberal leader, Mr. H. H. Brown, Liberal member for Calgary, made a contribution. He said that when he entered the Legislature two years before, he was predicted against Mr. H. H. Brown, a victim of the commission of the Liberal and standard that has been directed against Mr. H. H. Brown by his political opponents. He said, and went on to say that after entering the Legislature, he had found his leader asserting a leader should be courageous, courteous, a confidant, and a friend. He said, and went on to say that after entering the Legislature, he had found his leader asserting a leader should be courageous, courteous, a confidant, and a friend.

He predicted that Mr. H. H. Brown will be the next Premier of Alberta and will make a name for himself in Canadian history for ability in office.

Mr. H. H. Brown led all critics, the way he tore into the government for having sold its soul to the interests of Canada, in the Budget brought down by Hon. Russell Lorne, in which a deficit of $50,000,000 is forecast.

Pointing out that in the previous four years when surpluses totalling $237,641 had been forecasted, there had been deficits totalling $1,294,535. Brown expressed the hope that the new Provincial Treasurer would prove a better man than his predecessor, Premier Reid.

He charged the government with failing to protect the homes of the people, of opposing the fight for non-sterile relief, opposing his efforts to have interest rates cut in 1934; of increasing the interest-bearing debt of the province till it now totals $149,025,535; of abusing his privilege to expend by special warrant to spend over $25,000,000 without sanction of the Legislature; of increasing taxation and making no effort to reduce government expenditures during these depression days.

At the conclusion of this ruthless indictment of the government which took over two hours to deliver in detail, he moved a non-confidence motion of the Legislature, which was supported by all parties in the House except the government, and the labor group, which also voted with the government.

One interesting thing the Budget did not reveal, but that Liberal Unionism did, is that it cost the pocket of Alberta $200,000 for the "baiting" of young Powell instead of the $25,000 at first announced.

Powell's parents will get $20,000 for his support and $5000 law costs, but the law-costs of the government and its expert medical witnesses brings the total bill up to $25,000.

Premier Reid has announced that on April 1—All Pools Day—the tax on gasoline will be increased from six cents per gallon to eight cents.

A Liberal member's stand, that strongly caught me with support from all sides of the Legislature, was that of Hugh J. Montgomery, Liberal member for Wetaskinaw, who questioned the Attorney-General to know if the government would make a declaration whether or not it stands behind the Criminal Code clause that those who "inform" on an acceptable witness are entitled to claim the prize money as a reward for informing.

"What is your own attitude on the matter?" asked the Attorney-General.

"I am in favor of winners being allowed to keep their money," said the Liberal member.

At once from all sides of the House came approval. George MacKay, U. P. member or Pembina said that was "infinitely" said an informer should be rewarded. Frank White, Ex-Liberal member for Calgary, said that he had called for cheers for Premier Thompson of Ontario when told that Mr. Thompson refused to enforce the Informers clause.

The free expression of opinion was led to a remark for the Premier authorities to consider the administration of justice in Canada.

A startling incident occurred at the farm of Mr. W. Talbot, four miles east of Carbon on Tuesday evening, March 19th at 5 p.m. when the head of the Knobel Creek, which runs through Mr. Talbot's farm, suddenly heaved up to a height of thirty feet, for a length of 400 feet, with a sound of a violent explosion. This formed a wall to the process of the running water of the creek causing it to rise and spread over the flat adjoining.

The explosion appears to have started a bubble of the hill a little distance away, which collected nearby gas on an estimated area of a quarter million tons of earth into the valley immediately after. It is thought that an explosion of natural gas was the cause, as Mr. Talbot on going down to inspect it about five hours later detected a strong smell of gas and others noticed it the next day.

This explosion occurred about half-mile west of the gas well which was drilled by the Carbon Exploration Co. a few years ago, when drilling for oil they struck a strong flow of gas and a depth of 500 feet but were unable to drill deeper, the operations owing to financial conditions here.

The water in the creek has been in a distance of several miles from the gas well, and although it is not certain that it is another channel, it is evident that would probably flow in large part of this valley.

The 2nd prize, a 25-horsepower car, was won by Mrs. P. J. Brown whose name was 2557 came closest to the chosen number 2750.

Mrs. A. H. Brown was holder of lucky number 9154 which came closest to the chosen number 9258 and was the third name of a 25-horsepower car.

PULLING SIGHT BY AERIALS ON INVITATION

William Abshart, B.A., aerial contest leader, Sunday afternoon in a radio broadcast, asked all aerial contest winners to send him their machine at the coming week so as whether he should accept the invitation of the Dominion government to go to 120 points and receive a small cash prize for the machine.

Mr. Abshart's request came after he had read about letters from writers some of the more interesting but not to the invitation. He said he had received such letters from only about 20 writers and could not therefore assume that this small number actually represented the viewpoints of some 2,000 groups throughout the province.

Storm Causes Havoc With Power Lines

After enjoying his last day of weather for the last week, the power lines of Carbon and Beiseker, Alberta, were hit by a severe storm on Tuesday evening. Starting last night, a light wind soon began to blow, gradually blowing another heavy snow which was not heated until late Wednesday afternoon.

Being in the power belt of the storm, the power lines were hit, and the power was cut off. The power was not restored until late Wednesday afternoon.

LITTLE MARKET CHANGE

News of the international wheat situation is rather colorful these days. Demand has not brightened much and Canada continues to wait a little over two million bushels weekly. Argentina and Australia are both pushing shipments. In fact Australia is showing an increasing tendency to shift its wheat to the light of her light from last year.

The fluctuations of the British pound rather discovered international trade. Britain being the largest importer of wheat by a large margin.

The drop in the value of the pound made wheat more difficult to buy because of the increase of price required therefrom.

The United States' winter wheat, which is the centre of all eyes. The condition of the crop there has not varied greatly with the last year. The wheat and more fell over a hard frost, but not enough to cause the deterioration by drought and drought. The condition number of the winter wheat crop is listed at under 75 as at the end of March.

This indicates a crop of around 5,000,000 bushels.

Stocks in store and on farms in the United States is 45 million bushels less last year at this time.

SYNOPSIS

"You're fallen here to a half-share in plenty of trouble," the lawyer told Gerald Kene. "The Broken Spur has been systematically looting the ranch, and old Joe Carr, your partner, is drinking himself into a stupor."

Dad Kane, desert rat and luckless prospector till now returns to tell Dustin and Spike Goddard, who had grumbled him of his discovery of a rich gold mine, and shows samples of ore. Dustin unexpectedly comes along while Stone and Edith are riding fence, and seeing them, stops and talks at Edith. He mentions their dispute could be settled by marriage, but Edith refuses his proposal with remarks that make Dustin furious. He shows Stone, who promptly throws him into a pool of water.

Stone tells Carr, his foreman, about his meeting with Dustin. Carr, while at Seco an attempt is made to kill Stone, who proves more than a match for his enemies.

Dustin learns that Gerald Kene has been sent for, and also that Dad Kane has seen the Broken Spur ranch rustling Carr's cattle. He sets out with Dad Kane to learn the location of his gold discovery. Dad Kane shoots Dustin the mine.

They go back to camp, and Dustin shoots Kane. He fixes the shooting on Carr. Carr, a drug addict, who, stupefied by the narcotic he had taken, did not know whether he was guilty or not. They bury Kane and return to the Broken Spur ranch. Meanwhile at the Hour Glass, Carr, Carr and Stone speculate as to the making of entries on the Hour Glass, Carr and Stone speculate as to the making of entries on the Hour Glass, Carr and Stone speculate as to the making of entries on the Hour Glass.

"Wait a bit. I've got a better plan than that. . . ." Dustin's grin was the grin of a man who meant that he intends to see it all. "I had sprung that on Joe Carr, he'd simply wait till this Gerald Kene's partner, turns up. Young Kene might have the money. If he has, then old Carr would get out of my clutches. See? Kene would sure help Carr meet that note. He'd sure

Who tells in a sworn statement how Fruit-A-Live brought her lasting recovery from chronic constipation. Mrs. E. Seyffert, resident 76 Seaton Street, Toronto, is so happy to be well again that she has given a statement of her experience and made it under oath before a notary to convince others of its absolute truth. Mrs. Seyffert writes: "I had injured myself by childhood resulted in continued constipation. For years I suffered from lack of vitality. My complexion was yellow. I started taking Fruit-A-Live and now I am up at 6:30 a.m. every morning doing my own housework. My complexion is clear and I am quite regular."

to see him at once. Not a word more than that."

Spike went and ten minutes later Spike dropped his hat at the door and came shambling into the room. Dustin looked up from some pretended work at the desk.

"It's a good thing for you, Peyot, that you came at once," he said. "I'm sorry for you, but I don't see how I can help you. . . . Remember old Dad Kane, Peyot?"

"For heaven's sake lay off that Mist! Sam. . . . The man's arm was bent before his eyes. He shivered as though with an ague. "I ain't slept a wink since I came back. . . . I'd never get sleep if I wasn't for you. . . . You know what . . . ?" He tugged a red-and-green cigarette packet from his pocket.

Dustin snatched it from him, tore out four cigarettes and gave them to him, and thrust the package into his desk drawer.

"You damned fool. I've told you a dozen times not to get any of these things except what I give you. I give you your full allowance. Just suppose you take too many of these and talk too much. You know what'll happen. You'll be hung as high as Haman."

Peyot looked dazed. He had looked for a coin and perhaps an errand, and he found a threat that he knew half understood. He could not guess what was coming, but he knew that he was on the verge of being violently ill. His stomach was queasy. Man born of woman, cannot smoke unlimited peyot cigarettes to kill the memory of a murder that he never committed and still carry himself like a free man. Peyot squirmed and Dustin gladly noted it.

"I wish I could help you, Peyot," he said. "But I don't see how I can."

"What's the matter, boss? What's come up?"

"You know damned well what you did. The question is how've you got to keep the word from knowin' what you did, too? I'll hate to see you at the end of a rope, Peyot. You remember Willa?"

Peyot gulped audibly and sat down. He remembered Willa very well. Carr, while in the very act of changing brands on two horses of the Cross Keys stock, Willa had been given two hours to confab his sins. The time had been wholly insufficient and Willa had gone to some questionable place with a larrikin about his neck. Peyot remembered seeing the long body swinging in the wind under a giant live oak while a yellow-hammer and two woodpeckers hammered cheerily above him. He had never forgotten it and Dustin knew it.

"You see, Peyot, it's this way. When you killed old man Kane, though he was just an old desert rat who had no friends. It seems we were wrong. . . . He was wrong, back East. He had a nephew. His name is Gerald Kane or Kene or something like that. Anyhow old man Kane must have written him that he had found a gold mine. This nephew telegraphed that he will be out here tomorrow night for look up his uncle. You know what that means. Every one knows that I've been grub-stakin' old man Kane. They'll come to me first of all. If they ask me any questions, Peyot, I can see that I've got to tell 'em the truth. I'm willing to help you, I can, Peyot, but not to the extent of perjury. Of course I know just about how it was. . . . You smoked of that damned stuff that I've told you to leave alone. You had a bad dream and you got into a doped row with old man Kane and killed him."

Peyot shrugged. "Mexico ain't for me," he murmured.

"They'd get you there. They extradite for murder in Mexico. I guess you've got to pay the bill, Peyot. If this man Gerald Kane turns up. . . ."

He had suggested the answer even to a drug-addicted man. (To Be Continued.)

Alberta Farmer, Revives Nineteen Cents in Payment For Cow

One farmer in Alberta has an idea of how to teach his children what the word means. He is a neighbor of G. G. Code, United Farmer member for Macleod, Mr. Code told his son in the House of Commons.

The farmer sent a cow to the Calgary market and after paying all taxes was told his net return would be 19 cents. The agent who sold the cow received 75 cents commission. The farmer said he paid the cow at the market was 35 cents. He was asked to call in for his money as the amount was too small to pay by cheque but the farmer wanted a cheque.

He said he proposed to have it framed so if at some time in the future his son complained of poverty he could show him what really low prices were.

Countess of Beleshrough Has Felt Very Much At Home

Attending the annual meeting of the Local Council of Women in Ottawa, the Countess of Beleshrough spoke briefly to the officers and members and expressed her appreciation at being invited to the meeting. She said she had not really realized until she entered the room, that it would be the last meeting of the Local Council which she would attend.

"I have been so happy in Ottawa, you have received us so warmly and made us feel so much at home here that I do not like the idea of leaving," she said. She explained that while they would not be leaving Canada for a number of months, still when she was back in England, she would often send her thoughts back across the Atlantic ocean and wish happiness to all.

Foot And Mouth Disease

Canada And South Africa Only Countries Free From This Night

Canada and the Union of South Africa were said to be the only countries free from the blight of foot and mouth disease, during an agricultural debate in the British House of Commons.

Captain Frank Heilgers, Conservative, who farms more than 1,000 acres in west Suffolk, and is a member of the Friesian Cattle Society, said the society had searched the world over for countries free from the disease, and Canada and South Africa were practically the only ones they had found.

All other countries were spending money in research on the disease and were failing to find a remedy, he added.

Denver Firm To Erect Separating Plant In Alberta

Hon. Thomas C. Murphy, minister of the interior, revealed that the government had given permission to Denver, Colo., financial interests to erect in Alberta plants for separating bitumen from McMurray sands and for refining the bitumen to obtain gasoline, fuel oil and asphalt products.

The permission, Mr. Murphy said, was an extension of a former agreement made with the Denver interests represented by Max Ball which had conducted a "pilot" plant in Toronto for preliminary experiments.

The minister added he understood the firm had proceeded with construction in Alberta of a separation plant as soon as weather conditions permitted work and that the separation plant would be followed by a refinery. All the works, he believed, would cost about $250,000.

Mr. Murphy said the government will not spend any money on the scheme but that the company will be allowed to pay royalties for the privileges of working the sands.

Let Us Do Your Printing?

All business houses need more or less printed matter, all of which is within the possibilities of the local printer. Yet how prone many are to pass up the home printer and let the orders go to city offices which have no interest whatever in rural communities except to get printing orders and the cash to pay for them. Justness men, remember that the home paper is constantly promoting the interests of the home community and you owe it to yourself and your local paper to back up these efforts by at least having your printed matter done locally.

WHEN IN NEED OF PRINTED MATTER CONSULT

The Carbon Chronicle

Don't forget Al. Cashin's Big Auction Sale of farm equipment and stock to be held at his farm on Wednesday, March 27, commencing at 10:00 o'clock.

Bill—World you object to a husband who smokes in the house?
Betty—Yes. But I intend to be quiet about it until I get one.

Local farmers report having "hole" chicks hatch out already this Spring.

Joking Customer—"How much are your four-dollar shoes?"
Smart Salesman—"Two dollars a foot."

It was a cold, cold awakening for the birds Wednesday morning.

SUBSCRIPTIONS TO THE CARBON CHRONICLE ARE DUE AND PAYABLE NOW. PLEASE LOOK AT THE LABEL ON YOUR PAPER AND IF YOU ARE IN ARREARS WE WOULD APPRECIATE AN EARLY SETTLEMENT.

"The world has never had a good definition of the word liberty." We all desire for liberty, but in order, the same word we do not mean the same thing. What some men think of liberty may mean for each man to be as he pleases with himself and the product of other men's labor. There are two not only different, but incompatible things called for the same word. And it follows that each of the things, be the respective words called by two different and incompatible names—liberty and tyranny—Abraham Lincoln.
